SOCIAL and PERSONAL

THE discussion of Miss Mary Johnston's recent Virginia novel, "Lewis Rand," at the Lit-erary Hound Table of Woman's Club yesterday afternoon, was directed by Mrs. Thomas Cary Johnston, of Union Theological Seminary and was par-Mrs. Thomas Cary Johnston, of Union Theological Seminary, and was participated in by a farge and interested group of members, brought together for the consideration of one of the most successful novels of the year, one written by a Richmond authoress and a Virginia woman who has many friends and admirers in Richmond.

The line of discussion brought out the unanimous opinion on the part of those present, that "Lewis Rand" stands as Miss Johnston's finest and misst finished production. The ques-those present, that "Lewis Rand" stands as Miss Johnston's finest and hisst finished production. The question was raised as to whether Rand has his prototype in the Virginia of his day, or whether he is purely as finaginary character, in which Miss Johnston desires to show the results of his being the son of his father by his mending revolt at the circumstances of his class enthraiment and his bitter featonsy of Ludwell Fairfax, the embodiment of the scrupulous honor and frank, manly virtues conspleuously lacking in Rand; and also the son of his mother, by his determination to overmaster fate, and by his winning the love of so conspleuous an example of lovely Virginia womanhood, as his wife, Jacqueline.

The craft of the born artist in action, in the subtle character contrasts of Miss Jahnston's book, in the virile re-Miss Johnston's book, in the virile re-production of scenes and gatherings, political and otherwise, that belong to the period of "Lewis Rand," form-ed an important part of the after-noon's criticism, and were factors in the rounding out of one of the most charming symposiums that has taken place at the club this year. The pensions for old soldiers were raised from an aggregate of $400,000 to $450,000, and the appropriations for public schools and for assuring four menths' schools throughout the State, from $200,000 to $255.000. Then, there is the $500,000 bond issue bill, to carry out the purposes of the Pickett act of 1907 in the matter of the enlargement of the State ter of the enlargement of the State hospitals and their adequate equip-

Another act of general interest is that to meet conditions precipitated by the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of Foutierov vs. Lumm as to suits for gambling debts. The act, which was pressed through by Senator Bassett, prevents North Carolina courts for entertaining suits involving judgments obtained out of the State growing out of "future" contracts. There is another bill which was an especial pet of Senator Bassett, and which he brought to final ratification. It assures to railroad employes and others engaged in interstate business the right of homestead exemption in cases where claims are sent from one State into another and suit brought for collection.

"There's a Reason"

WORK OF SOLONS IS SUMMARIZED Danderine

PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost Heautiful Hair at Small Cost

Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action.
The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected.
It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a lant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying unto loning its supply of moisture or nutriment; when beidness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its mourtchment, leaving mothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing tod in either case, is to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and repleaish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and year crop will grow and multiply as nature intended its should.

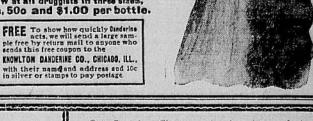

Knowiton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the orly remedy for the hair even discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquides of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you ofts great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—tax it and see for yourself.

LYNCHBURG. VA. March 10.—In the United States District Court this morning. "Kentucky Joe." whose aliases are numerous, and whose real name is not known to the authorities, was given a hearing and resentenced to serve three years, eleven months and twenty-four days at hard labor in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

This sentence is the remainder of an unserved term, the prisoner escaping when confined in the Federal prison at Raleigh, N.C., in 1899, where he was serving four years for robbing the post-office at Maynard. Warren county, this State. Although liberal rewards were offered at the time for the capture of the fugitive, he managed to clude recapture until last Defember he can into the toils at Bluefield, W. Va., where soon afterwards it was learned that the prisoner was none other than "Kentucky Joa." Some days ago the famous crook was brought to the Rosanoke Jail, the authorities expecting to be able to identify him there, but it was necessary to defer this until to-day, the prisoner having been brought to Lynchburg Monday afternoon.

Joe is being carefully guarded by a Federal deputy while in the Lynchburg jail, and every precaution will be taken to keep him in custody until he is delivered to the hig prison at Atlanta.

Shortly after the disposition of the case against Kentucky Joe, Francis Dorn, alias "Pennsylvania Fatty," who hails from the region of Butler, Pa., was arraigned, and he pleaded guilty to an indictment, charging him with the robbery of the post-office at Tip Top, Va., on September 11. He was sentenced to a year and a day at the Atlanta prison.

W. R. Robinson, of Alexandria, Va., whose "prefessional" name is "Alexandria Bunny," and who is charged with robbing the nost-offices at Salem and Blacksburg, will be tried at the Abingdon term of this court. In the meantime Robinson will be confined in the Lynchburg jail.

Both of these cases were handled by Postal Inspectors H. W. Robinson and H. B. Mosby.
